

Germaine Wong

Short Bio/CV

Germaine Wong is a transplant nephrologist, Director of Western Renal Service at Westmead Hospital, Professor of Clinical Epidemiology, NHMRC Leadership Fellow at the University of Sydney, and Co-Director of Clinical Research at Centre for Kidney Research, Children's Hospital at Westmead.

She is the current Co-Chair of the Women in Transplantation and Associate Editor of Kidney International (KI) and Transplantation. She has an internationally recognised track record in transplant epidemiology, cancer and transplantation, social ethics in organ allocation, decision analytical modelling, health economics, and quality of life studies in transplant recipients.

Candidate's Statement

Statement on what I wish to achieve as ISN Regional Board Leader

Achieving equitable access to safe and quality nephrological care (dialysis and transplantation) across the entire region among all peoples with kidney disease and kidney failure, is an ambitious goal. If I am elected to be a Regional Board Leader, I am committed to ensuring equity is embedded in all activities we do, and that our actions are informed by evidence and robust data. I will also engage with communities and our patients to develop priorities, and build capacity and skills (clinical and research) through our collaborative networks within the region.